A must have for anyone in and wanting to be in the private club business!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A hole-in-one as biz book with inspiring formula for successBy A CustomerThere are a lot of books out there about how to get rich. There are a few more about how to grow rich in more than money, but none of them are written by a billionaire who has done both. Robert's Rules of Order can help anyone enjoy success in business and even more important, in life. Living, loving, laughing, giving, having fun, setting up win-win relationships, being nice...it's all in this book. Entertaining reflections on a fascinating career, Robert Dedman has built fame and fortune as the founder of ClubCorp. He's the richest guy in golf, but that's not the extent of his wealth. His whole life is rich because he works at making it so. How he did it and keeps doing it will inspire anyone to set their sights high and achieve a richness in life that goes far beyond their net worth. Nobody cares what you know until they know you care. This book has it all. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great Enjoyable Reading and Informative Too By A Customer I have read many books about the life and times of individuals. This is one of the most enjoyable books you can read, enjoy and learn all at the same time. It will not tell you all of the details of how Robert Dedman became so successful but it will give a foundation to make your own life successful. Ms DeLoach's incorporation of humor throughout the book truly makes this a fun book to read.

Robert Dedman was one of the most successful developers in the private club industry. In his candid autobiography, Dedman defined true wealth not as the number of golf courses you own or the money in your bank account, but as a matter of spirit. Dedman's rules of order encouraged humor, giving, creating a life plan, and finding balance in all areas of your life.

"Race, gender, or religion didn't make any difference to us" he (Robert Dedman) wrote in King of Club. (The Dallas Morning News)
