CustomerThe cards are awful!! The questions and answers are poorly written. Very disappointed. Was not helpful in prepping for any exam or testing your knowledge of the subject matter. Don't waste your money. There are better supplemental materials out there. I also bought Con Law II (which is equally as terrible and being returned) Crim Pro (haven't read through the questions yet) and Real Property (haven't read through the questions yet either). I'm hoping not all of them are this bad, but I doubt it.4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. I love this series of Study AidsBy CustomerI purchased Set I of these, as well as the cards on Torts to help me get through my 1L experience. Now that I am in the second semester, and we are moving into some of the more complex subject matter, the Set II cards are an incredible study aid. They WILL NOT stand on their own as the only supplemental material you use. They drill down into some of the rules, but they give a more general overview, and in essays, profs like specifics on some thing. I'd also like to recommend Glannon's supplemental books on Civil Procedure and Torts as other overview supplements that compliment these cards.Ultimately, these are great for review leading up to a test. They break the ideas down into bite-sized chunks of info, and make you to take a step back from all the minutiae and focus on the bigger picture. I use them to supplement my outlines, as well.I highly recommend these cards.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. ... out of date and the answers are no longer good law. I've used all of the first year ...By Eric HMany of the topics are out of date and the answers are no longer good law. I've used all of the first year Law in a Flash Cards and have found them very helpful. This particular set should be avoided until they have been updated.
