Navigating Election and Political Law provides an authoritative, insider's perspective on the dynamics of the federal and state laws governing political contributions and spending and how these laws are impacting practitioners and their clients. Written by partners from some of the nation's leading law firms, this book guides the reader through the current trends in election and political law, including the latest guidance on the candidate, committee, and party side of the ledger as well as the corporate, non-profit, and association perspective. These political law experts review and discuss game-changing U.S. Supreme Court decisions, including Citizens United, McCutcheon v. Federal Election Commission, and Shelby County v. Holder and their impact on candidates, campaigns, PACs and Super-PACs, and the agencies charged with enforcement of the laws that govern. In this rapidly changing compliance environment, these industry leaders reflect on the challenges practitioners face, ranging from the defense of First Amendment free speech protections, ensuring the fundamental right to vote for all, and the future of campaign finance, and the role that lawyers will continue to play. The different niches represented and the breadth of perspectives presented enable readers to get inside some of the great legal minds of today, as these experienced lawyers offer up their thoughts on the keys to success in this high-stakes field. Inside the Minds provides readers with proven business and legal intelligence from leading C-Level executives and lawyers. Each chapter offers thought leadership and expert analysis on an industry, profession, or topic, providing a future-oriented perspective and proven strategies for success. Each author has been selected based on their experience and C-Level standing within the business and legal communities. Chapters include: 1.
