From Brand: Cambridge University Press : Prospects in International Investment Law and Policy: World Trade Forum before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Prospects in International Investment Law and Policy: World Trade Forum:

The negotiation of a patchy but burgeoning network of international investment agreements and the increasing use to which they are put is generating a growing body of jurisprudence which, while still evolving, requires closer analytical scrutiny. Drawing on many of the most distinguished voices in investment law and policy, and offering novel, multidisciplinary perspectives on the rapidly evolving landscape shaping international investment activity and treaty-making, this book explores the most important economic, legal and policy challenges in contemporary international investment law and policy. It also examines the systemic implications flowing from frenetic recent judicial activism in investment matters and advances several innovative propositions for how best to promote greater overall coherence in rule-design, treaty use and policy making and thus offer a better balance between the rights and obligations of international investors and host states.

"Overall, Mr Echandi and Mr Sauv have put together a significant publication; concise, informative and refreshing to read. Its content is insightful, wide reaching and flirts with the utmost frontier of international investment law. Although an abundance of works address the subject, this volume stands out as a text from which both practitioners and academics may equally benefit and draw inspiration." Carlos Humberto Garcia Guzman and Christian Campbell, Transnational Dispute Management
About the Author Roberto Echandi is the Global Product Leader on Investment Policy of the Investment Climate team at the World Bank Group. Pierre Sauv is Deputy Managing Director and Director of Studies at the World Trade Institute, University of Bern.
